CELEBRATING THE YOUTH PARTICIPATION MOBILITY IN GREECE

We are excited to share the highlights of the Youth Participation Mobility held in Greece, a cornerstone event of the Youth PartEQUALITY project. This dynamic initiative brought together young people from Greece, Turkey, Romania, and Poland to explore gender equality through dialogue, debate, and collaborative policy work.

Youth Participation Mobility Overview

Held over five days, this youth mobility event engaged participants in structured activities focused on gender-sensitive policy development, youth governance, and inclusive participation. The central theme, "Policy Reform Debate: Structuring a Youth Community Governance for Gender Equality in Europe," empowered young people to become active contributors to policy reform at both national and EU levels. Participants gained essential skills in public speaking, argumentation, democratic participation, and policy advocacy, all through a gender lens.

Event Highlights

Structured Policy Reform Debate

Young participants took part in a simulation where they debated real gender policy issues and presented youth-driven policy proposals. The debate mirrored parliamentary procedures and encouraged critical thinking and civic engagement.

Workshops on Gender Equality & Youth Leadership

Interactive workshops helped deepen participants' understanding of intersectionality, gender-sensitive governance, and inclusive communication. These sessions also fostered leadership skills and collaborative problem-solving.

Peer-to-Peer Learning & Exchange

The event created space for meaningful cultural exchange and peer learning. Participants from different countries shared their experiences with gender-related challenges, creating a transnational understanding of gender equality in Europe.

Dialogue with Stakeholders

Youth engaged in open dialogues with local experts, educators, and policymakers, presenting their ideas and receiving feedback on how to improve youth participation in gender-sensitive policy-making.

Looking Ahead

This Youth Participation Mobility was a milestone for the Youth PartEQUALITY project. It not only strengthened participants' skills in policy debate and advocacy but also deepened their commitment to building inclusive, gender-equal communities. The outcomes of this mobility will feed directly into our ToolKit, shaping the content of future training modules and influencing upcoming local events across partner countries.
